youthful skin

Why Fractional Treatments?

- Treats only a fraction of the skin's surface at a time, which in turn provides:
 - Less downtime
 - Increased comfort
 - Greater control of the treatment
- Leaves intact bridges of skin between treatment zones
 - Speeds healing

Is The Treatment Safe?

- Lasers have been used in cosmetic surgery for more than 20 years
- The UltraPulse® lasers, which power the Active FX and Deep FX treatments, have been used in hundreds of thousands of procedures worldwide and are considered the gold standard for laser resurfacing
- Alternative treatments such as deep chemical peels and demarcations have largely been replaced by laser procedures due to the precision and uniformity that laser resurfacing provides

How it Works

- High-energy beam of light is used to vaporize lines, wrinkles, scars, dark spots and other irregularities, layer by layer
- Stimulates the formation over time of new, underlying collagen to provide better elasticity and support for the skin

The ActiveFX™ Procedure

Intact tissue between treatment spots speeds healing

Epidermis

Dermis

Treats the epidermis

- Uses a larger laser spot size but doesn't go very deep
- Removes spots, softens texture, improves scars
- Not ideal for deep wrinkles

The DeepFX™ Procedure

Small spots reach deep into the dermis

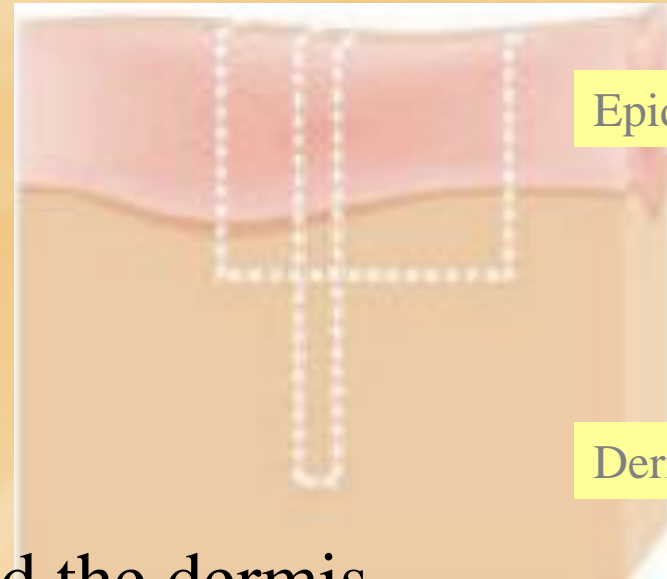

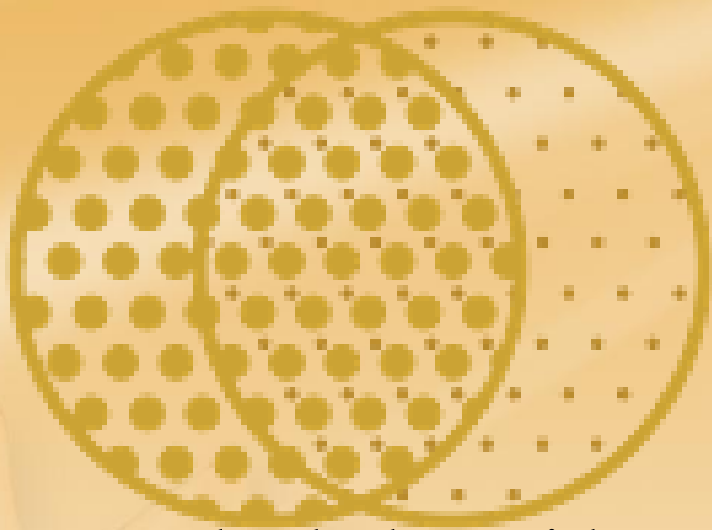

Treats the dermis

- Uses a smaller size spot to reach deeper in the dermis
- Revives and renews the collagen foundation of your skin
- Improves tone, improves scars, reduces deep wrinkles

The TotalFX™ Procedure

Epidermis

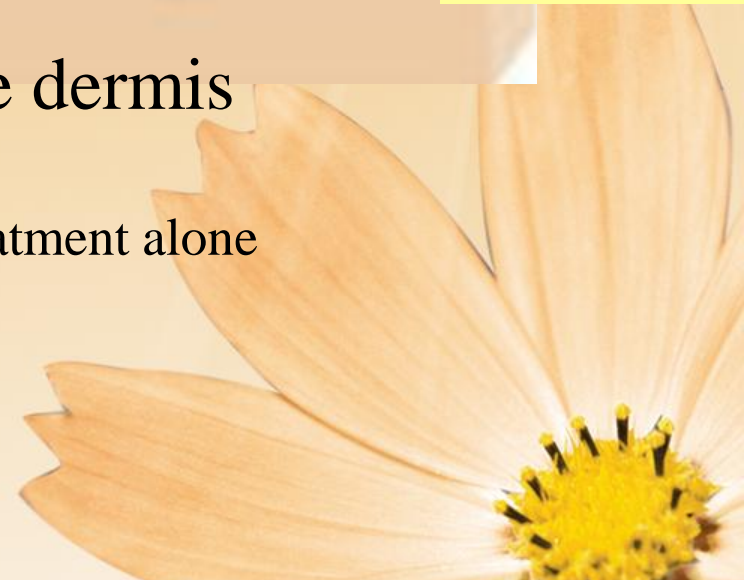

Dermis

Treats both the epidermis and the dermis

- Both treatments in one session
- Does not increase downtime over either treatment alone
- Improves spots, scars, texture and wrinkles
